

SUCKER CREEK PRESERVE

This nature area is located within the city of Detroit Lakes. You will be greeted by a circular parking lot for cars and buses. A half-mile handicapped accessible path leads you through maple and basswood forest, mixed with prairie. Interpretive signage and eco-friendly benches provide stops to rest along the way. The paved path culminates with an amphitheatre. Access the marshwalk on a walkway system that is environmentally friendly and virtually maintenance free. The more than 60 acres also includes swamp and trout stream.
